BY FRANK G. MENKE,

New FORK, May II.—There are two seasons why Phinney Boyls, of Lowell, Mass, botame a prime fighter. One is because his parents hitched the name of Phinney onto him; the other is an offer of $5 that hired him into his first profesional ring chargement.

And now, less than two years since he climbed into a prize ring for the first time. Phinney has risen to such heights in the featherweight divinion that the ring experin are needletting that with an annual standard that with an annual standard the ring are respected by which an annual represence he will dethrone Johanny Kilberne—If Johanny gives him a battle. The parents of Phinney thought it too pretty for a boy and called its owner "aissy" just once.

Was Bure Knockle Battler.

Phinney fought often onstant heattling gave him quite a reputation as a baye knuckle battler back in Lowell and before he donned longs trousers Phinney was innume from farther kidding about his first name. Phinney had just celebrated his 18th himself and before he donned longs trousers Phinney was innume from farther kidding about his first name.

Phinney had just celebrated his 18th himself had young battler by the name of Syklie brane was sinted to meet a boxer from Boaton.

When the ring has bett to get the 12 in 700, but you're lishle to get the 12 in 700, but you're lishle to get the 12 in 700, but you're lishle to get the 12 in 700 boy him in the first with the other line and the fries. The sec to it that you get the money. And Phinney Boyle lishle and was introduced to the care of the management.

"No. I'll give you $5. How's that!" Phinney Boyle looked at the manager in amazement.

"Left see the money," demanded the search him in the fight to starf at once. He search the manager extended by manager extended to the complex of light, punches and then made a tone of 185 phinney fourth the time for the scrap came and handed into the ring as the first round opened.

When the other less than arisen to $2 the first are prize for the scrap came and handed in the first and the first and t

Evans was sinted to meet a bear from Hoston.

When the time for the scrap came along, the manager of the club sol into the Fing and announced:

"The boy who was to fight Evans has rawled out of the match. Is there anyone in the crowd who would like to go on with Evans."

For a moment there was silence in the crowd and then one of the audience lumped up and said;

"I guest I can find a boy."

Then he rushed over to where Phinney was sitting.

"Any, you go in and fight that guy," said the friend to Phinney.

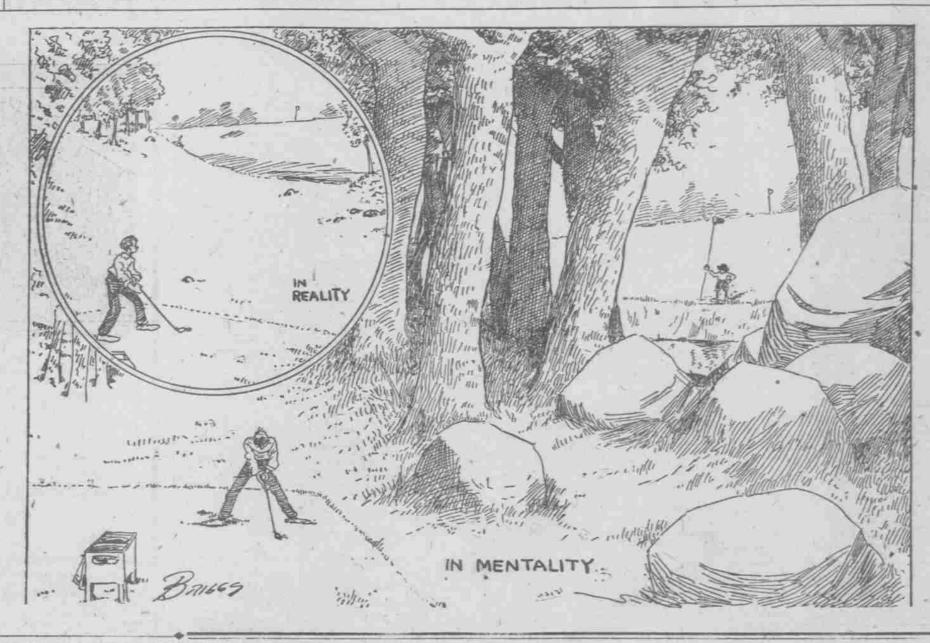

Filmney looked at him in a puriled way.

"What? Me go in and fight him?"

"there'll be a new champion."
